

GIRL SLEUTHS TRAPPED EAST SIDE DEALERS

Were Assigned to Get Evidence by Retail Clerks' Protective Union.

TEN ARRESTS ARE MADE.

Merchants Ready to Sell on Sunday to Young Women Detectives.

Down on the east side there are ten small shopkeepers, dealers in dry goods, notions and the like, whose confidence in women has been eternally shaken. Every one of them stands ready to believe hereafter that it was Eve who tempted the poor, guileless gentlemanly serpent to his fall.

The ten of them just as good as said so in the Essex Market Police Court today when they were arraigned on the charge of violating the Sunday closing ordinance. As the chief accusers came three of the prettiest shop girls on Manhattan Island—shop girls on a weekday, but turned sleuths of a Sunday here or late, and doing very well at the job, thank you.

For a good while the Retail Clerks' Protective Union has been trying to break up the habit which a lot of the small merchants have of keeping open for business on Sunday. But it was hard to get proof, because when a plain clothes man walked in and asked for a skein of embroidery silk or a bolt of baby ribbon the proprietor tumbled right away and they both left him. So the union hit on the scheme of sending out young women to get evidence that would stick. Did the scheme work? Ask of the ten in Essex Market Court this Blue Monday.

Assigned to the Work.

Three young women, members of the union, assigned to the task yesterday were Miss Ida Marcus, of No. 28 East Seventh street; Miss Catherine Burns, of No. 114 First avenue, and Miss Mary O'Hare, of No. 129 East One Hundred and Twenty-seventh street. Capt. Murphy, of the Eldridge street station, promised co-operation in the undertaking, and he detailed one of his men, a mere detective as it happened, but the best he had in stock, to follow in the wake of each of the three girl sleuths and make the arrests.

Miss Marcus went the way. She went first to the store of Samuel A. Bromviest, at Nos. 131-132 Division street and bought a pair of opera length hose—whatever they are at the prevailing Division street price of 25 cents a pair. Close behind her followed Miss Burns, and she invested in three yards of light pink ribbon. Even as Bromviest wrapped this purchase up Capt. Murphy and a predict Hawkeye walked in and nailed him.

Ten Victims in All.

At the store of Fred Ziegler, No. 39 Grand street, a clerk waited on the good-looking young woman, who asked for three yards of blue ribbon. The clerk wasn't certain about selling the ribbon, and he called the boss.

"Sure, sell her," Miss Marcus alleges that Ziegler said. "Only because it is Sunday she must pay ten cents a yard instead of seven and a half."

And so on on the other side, where the girl sleuths were arrested in the court all the cases, at the request of counsel for the defendants, were continued until next Friday.

"We'll be back again next Friday with our evidence," said Miss Marcus to an Evening World reporter. "The union is determined that the clerks of these small dealers shall have at least one day of rest a week. As it is the poor clerks work seven days out of seven because their employers are greedy for a few cents more each week. We are not through yet. The union is going to keep on sending out girl sleuths until the Sunday closing law is obeyed by the small dealers and the large dealers alike."

SQUIRREL WITH TAIL
THREE FEET LONG.

Large as a Good-Sized Dog and Comes from Malaba With Other Freaks.

The tramp steamer Indramayo, in today from Bombay and Calcutta, brought a small menagerie of queer creatures, among them a Malaba squirrel with a bushy tail three feet long. The body of the animal is as large as a good-sized dog, yet it has all the nimbleness of a chipmunk.

When the Indramayo was in the Mediterranean the squirrel got free from its cage and scampered up into the rigging. It wouldn't come down until the second officer lassoed it. Other animal passengers on the tramp were two huge pythons, one of which was a big crocodile.

SHIPPING NEWS.

THE TIMES.

Ship	Water	Low Water	High Water
Sandy Hook	11:00 A.M.	1:00 P.M.	3:00 P.M.
Governors Island	8:00 A.M.	2:12 P.M.	2:12 P.M.
Well Gate	9:58 A.M.	3:44 P.M.	3:44 P.M.

PORT OF NEW YORK.

ARRIVED.

Ship	From	Arrived
Shasta	Naples	11:00 A.M.
Orizaba	Albany	11:00 A.M.
Proctor	New Orleans	11:00 A.M.
San Juan	Buenos Aires	11:00 A.M.
Comal	Buenos Aires	11:00 A.M.
San Juan	Buenos Aires	11:00 A.M.
San Juan	Buenos Aires	11:00 A.M.
San Juan	Buenos Aires	11:00 A.M.

INCOMING STEAMSHIPS.

DUE TO-DAY.

Ship	From	Due
Stamford	Buenos Aires	11:00 A.M.
Stamford	Buenos Aires	11:00 A.M.
Stamford	Buenos Aires	11:00 A.M.
Stamford	Buenos Aires	11:00 A.M.

OUTGOING STEAMSHIPS.

SAILED TO-DAY.

Ship	To	Sailed
Wingate	Albany	11:00 A.M.
Wingate	Albany	11:00 A.M.
Wingate	Albany	11:00 A.M.
Wingate	Albany	11:00 A.M.

MILES SENTENCED TO YEAR IN PRISON

Former District-Attorney of Kings Must Also Pay a Fine of $500.

William O. Miles, the former Brooklyn Assistant District-Attorney, was today given the maximum penalty of one year's imprisonment and a fine of $500 for conspiring to defraud the city by presenting false sewer claims. His confidential clerk, Charles M. Wells, received the same penalty. Another clerk, Frank M. Wandell, had his sentence deferred till next Monday in view of a confession made to the District-Attorney last Saturday. The three men were found guilty Friday.

Miles's lawyer, ex-Judge Brundage, at once moved for a new trial and arrest of judgment. Both motions were denied. He then asked that the prisoners be left in the custody of the Sheriff till he could prepare an application for a motion to show cause. This was granted, and the papers will be presented this afternoon.

The two men were in a panic when they were brought in for sentencing. Miles, when he gave his pedigree, could not be heard three feet away. He paled visibly when the sentence was pronounced. Judge Crane expressed the belief that the men were very fortunate in that they had escaped trial on a graver charge. He said that only the excellent advice of their counsel had saved them.

When Miles and Wells entered the court they refused to speak to Wandell. They knew of the confession he made in 1903. He was before the Grand Jury this week, and it is said, that he will impair several new facts that will implicate prominent city employees and politicians. District-Attorney Clarke hopes to obtain more convictions on the strength of his confession.

An order staying the execution of the judgment was granted after the arrest of judgment. The Division of the Supreme Court, the prisoners were then admitted to bail. They had been kept waiting in an ante-room of the Sheriff's office and had not been placed in the case. Miles received the money for the bail on the argument on May 3 to show cause why the verdict should not be set aside and a new trial granted.

It is likely that there will be more trouble for Miles, as the District-Attorney could off in New York County, taken up on the matter and is going to go carefully over the evidence in the case. Miles received the money for the bail on the argument on May 3 to show cause why the verdict should not be set aside and a new trial granted.

70 LOST IN WRECK
OF FISHING BOATS.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, April 22.—News reached here to-day that two Danish trawlers with forty men on board foundered recently in a gale off the coast of Ireland. A third boat, with a crew of thirty, is also believed to have been lost.

MISSING LINKS HELD UP.

Idiot Brought Here for Show Purposes Not Allowed to Land.

The tramp steamer Wendenfels arrived to-day from Bombay and Calcutta with two passengers that the immigration authorities will not permit to land. They are natives of a district in India where there is internecine warfare and the majority of the people are idiots.

These men were brought on for show purposes. They have receding foreheads and little higher intellectual development than apes. They were on clothing until they were compelled to don sweaters and trousers in Boston. Members of the crew call them Champion and Jack. They have long, claw-like finger nails and look like gorillas.

GILFORD CLUB FRIDAY.

Chick Tucker will probably meet Johnny Morio in one of the star bouts of the Gilford A. C. Grand Central Palace, on Friday night. This ends the opening entertainment, Willie Lewis, of this city, and Billy Burke box in the wind-up.

BIG, BUT HE'S WELCOME.

BY MAURICE KETTEN.

LONG RUNAWAY IN CROWDED HARLEM

Two Men in Runabout Thrown Out and Vehicle Knocked to Splinters.

Shocking big sorrel trotter tore through two miles of Harlem yesterday afternoon with the wreckage of a red runabout banging against his heels and driving him frantic. Somehow or other he dodged the hundreds of automobiles, pleasure rigs, pedestrians, baby carriages and pet dogs that clogged his path.

Ernest Miller, a merchant, and his brother-in-law, Fred Knopf, both living at No. 117 Seventh avenue, went out for a horse on the Broadway-helms Trotter's high-stepping sorrel. Coming back the horse, after passing some two hundred large autos, took it into his head to throw a scare at the sight of a small one. Things began to happen at One Hundred and Thirty-fourth street and St. Nicholas avenue. Knopf pitched out on his head first. Then the runaway, he rode sobered and to the curb, as hard that Miller, who had already lost control of the lines, was thrown out and knocked senseless against the street.

The horse slowed up long enough to kick the runabout into the past tense and then moved south as fast as he could, pelting, scattering the crowds as he went and leaving a trail of leather strings and red tool-picks behind him. His route was down St. Nicholas avenue to One Hundred and Twenty-fourth street, east on One Hundred and Twenty-fourth street to Manhattan avenue and south again on Manhattan avenue to One Hundred and Sixth street. There Charles Snyder, of No. 31 East Eighteenth street, grabbed the horse as he swung by him, and after dangling from the sorrel's neck for half a block managed to halt him. He rode the sobered animal to a stable.

Knopf escaped with a face badly cut and bruised. Miller had his face badly cut and bruised. The horse was taken to a stable. The runabout was destroyed. The horse was taken to a stable. The runabout was destroyed.

METZ TO PROBE DEEP INTO SEWER FRAUDS.

Comptroller Says There Will Be Prosecutions in New York County.

William A. Miles, the lawyer convicted last week of conspiracy in connection with sewer claim frauds in Brooklyn, has not seen the last of his troubles. Comptroller Metz said today that the case would also be presented to the New York Grand Jury as soon as District-Attorney Jerome obtained a transcript of the record of Miles's conviction in Brooklyn.

The Brooklyn charge was that Miles and two others conspired to defraud the city by false claims for damages done by defective sewers.

"The money secured from the city," said Mr. Metz, "was paid over in New York County. I propose to push the matter here." Others, he said, were equally guilty with Miles, and he insisted that evidence which he is preparing to produce will expose some starting conditions during Mr. Grout's administration.

"They might have been able to fool Grout," said Mr. Metz, "but they can't fool me." He was going to sit this thing to the bottom and show up some of the rottenness.

He mentioned the names of several others, including an examiner and an inspector, who, he said, were implicated and whom the Grand Jury will be asked to indict.

DEATH DUE TO ALCOHOLISM.

Dying Man Arrested for Intoxication, Expired in Hospital.

Benedict Eckert, forty-seven years old, of No. 43 Courtlandt avenue, the Bronx, died in Lincoln Hospital to-day three hours after his arrest for intoxication.

The man was in a dying condition from alcoholism when he was taken to the Lincoln Hospital. He died at four o'clock after he reached the hospital. He was a carpenter, employed by the Brunswick & Balke Company.

THIRTY DAYS FOR DRINKING WATER

Druggist Fooled Woman Intent on Suicide but Court Sentenced Her.

Mrs. Madeline Cook, who lives at No. 26 Bloomfield street, Hoboken, was sent to the penitentiary for thirty days to-day for attempted suicide. Though she drank only water she was sure it was carbolic acid, and when she found out how she had been fooled by the druggist she berated him soundly for the deception.

Last night Mrs. Cook entered the drug store of William Kamalia, at Hudson and Newark streets. She called for carbolic acid and strychnine. As she seemed much excited she was given water and a plain white powder. She took her packages and at the door suddenly swallowed the powder, washed it down with the "carbolic" and dropped screaming to the floor. She shrieked in agony, rolled from side to side and tore her hair. She was taken to the nearest police station, where the most extreme measures were taken. She had recovered from her experience within an hour.

Arrested in the Hoboken Police Court to-day she was confronted by the druggist, who told the story of the water and the white powder. The woman, on hearing how she had been fooled, broke into a torrent of abuse and vowed vengeance upon the man who had sold her water for carbolic.

SWEENEY APPOINTED; HODGINS PASSED UP.

For Third Time Police Captain Has Been Turned Down for Inspectorship.

Acting Inspector Dennis Sweeney was today appointed a full-fledged inspector by Commissioner Bingham, which thus fills out the list of inspectors in the department and winds up the incident growing out of the reinstatement by the courts of Inspectors Druhan and Smith. When they came back there was but one vacancy in the ranks of inspectors, but Bingham reduced two acting inspectors. Thus there were three vacancies, two of which were, of course, filled by Druhan and Smith.

The Commissioner then called upon the Civil-Service Board for the names of three eligible captains. In the list given him Sweeney's name was first, with Capt. Higgins second, and Capt. Buchanan third. There was much talk among the police as to why Sweeney was promoted and Higgins was passed up.

In view of his popularity and record there was some surprise that he was passed over. It is the third time this has occurred in the case of Higgins and his name will now go on the list unless it is called for specially by the Commissioner.

HIGGINS PICKS MAN TO SUCCEED HENDRICKS.

ALBANY, April 22.—For the first time in weeks Gov. Higgins gave out positive news with regard to the appointment of a successor to State Superintendent of Insurance Francis Hendricks. He announced that he would name the new superintendent within ten days.

"I cannot say anything about it at this time," was the reply.

The Governor also announced that he would appoint before the close of the session a new commissioner of excise, a superintendent of public buildings and three racing commissioners to succeed August Belmont, John Sandford and E. D. Morgan.

HIGGINS THREATENS A SPECIAL SESSION.

(Special to The Evening World.)

ALBANY, April 22.—Gov. Higgins is determined that the question of a reappointment of Assembly districts shall be settled before the final adjournment of the Legislature.

He intimated to-day that if it was not done he would call a special session.

SHOOTS WIFE TWICE, THEN HER MOTHER

Crazed by Drink, Henry Rizzo Attempts Double Murder and Escapes.

(Special to The Evening World.)

LAWRENCE, N. J., April 22.—Deputy Sheriff is to-day searching for Henry Rizzo, a young Italian, who was married a short time ago to Mary Conziniella. Yesterday he shot at his wife twice tearing away the knuckle of the little finger on her left hand. He shot once at his mother-in-law hitting her in the left side and sending a bullet nearly through her body.

The Conziniella and the Rizzo residence—the latter being over a home owned by young Rizzo's father, Michael—are situated side by side in Park place, near Morris avenue. The young couple had resided on the second floor of the Rizzo Hotel.

Young Rizzo drank too freely yesterday morning. He went upstairs, began to beat his bride, who fled to the home of her parents. She had been some several hours, when Rizzo, infuriated by liquor, went to the Conziniella cottage. He demanded that his wife return home immediately and began calling her vile names. The mother-in-law, Mrs. Conziniella, told him that if he could not respect his wife and her home to get out and that in a hurry.

He arrived at the door he drew a revolver and sent two bullets at his wife, the first striking her hand and tearing away a portion of her knuckle and the second taking no effect. As he was passing a window he caught sight of his mother-in-law, who was in the act of calling for help. He struck her in the side, and she fell, screaming with agony.

Leaving the scene, he went to the home of his father, where he was hidden. He was discovered by the police and taken to the hospital.

BARRICADED IN HOME WHILE BURGLARS ROB.

(Special to The Evening World.)

BIRMINGHAM, N. J., April 22.—Burglars after barricading Arthur Rizzo and his family in their apartments over the post-office at Pittston, near here, early to-day blew the safe. They got $20 in cash and stamps.

The gang used nitro-glycerine, and besides smashing the safe wrecked the ground floor of the house.

People of the town, awakened by the explosion, saw four men driving away in the darkness, but no arrests were made. None of the Rizzo family was injured. E. Robinson is the postmaster at Pittston.

NEWSBOYS BURY COMRADE.

The newsboys who attended the exercises at No. 14 New Chambers street last night were sad over the death of a former comrade, John McVicker, who died yesterday in Brooklyn. McVicker was a sailor on the Spanish war and a member of the Spanish war veterans.

His father, a sailor on the Maine, was killed when that vessel was blown up in Havana harbor. The boys raised money for young McVicker's funeral.

W. Altman & Co.

will offer for Special Sale, commencing to-morrow (Tuesday), French Hand-embroidered Linen Robes, Golf Waists, Boleros and Coats (unmade).

Unmade Robes, heretofore $12.50 and 18.00, at $8.75 and 10.50
Unmade Golf Waists and Boleros, heretofore $9.00 and 11.00, at 6.75
Unmade Coats, heretofore $25.00 & $32.00, at $12.50 and 16.00 (Lace Department.)

WOMAN'S BODY IN CROTON RESERVOIR

Still in Croton Basin Where Wife of Laborer Leaped to Death.

For three weeks the body of a woman suicide has lain at the bottom of the Croton Reservoir from which New York's water supply comes.

A gang under Spot Rogers worked around the reservoir all yesterday exploring charges of dynamite in hopes of heaving the body to the surface. This dynamiting, which during the last few days has taken the place of dragging the reservoir, has continued at regular intervals, and sixty-seven bolts of the explosive have been used. The almost constant detonations attracted attention and led to the exposing of the secret.

The suicide was Mrs. Dilaida Giotti, fifty-two years old, wife of Leone Giotti, a mason on the works. They lived in the row of dwellings known to the Croton people as "The Rowery." On the morning of April 2 Mrs. Giotti arose before her husband had awakened, and dressing herself in a wrapper and slippers kissed her seven-year-old boy Peter good-bye, and after giving him the key left the house.

She took the shortest route to the reservoir. On the road she met an Italian woman whom she knew. The woman saw she was agitated and asked her where she was going.

"Up the road," said Mrs. Giotti, adding, "Good-bye. You will never see me again."

Antonio Monte, a reservoir watchman, was patrolling the edge of the big basin when he noticed a woman over the highest point known as the Mole. Monte thought the woman was picking flowers and turned his back a minute. She was not there when he looked around. There was no woman on the Mole.

For nearly three weeks the reservoir has been systematically drained. Then dynamite was used, and the failure to recover the body was reported. It was feared that it had been blown to atoms by an early blast. At the point where the woman is supposed to have jumped on the intake is 44 feet deep.

Joachim Cremat, master mason, living at No. 23 West Fourth street, is a brother of Mrs. Giotti and supports their old mother. When seen to-day by an Evening World reporter he said: "I have just returned from spending a week around the reservoir searching for my sister's body. We are heart-broken. She must have been out of her mind at the time. What caused her to take the fatal leap? Ah, I can't say. She was a good woman. Mrs. Giotti was a good husband and a good mother. When seen to-day by an Evening World reporter he said: "I have just returned from spending a week around the reservoir searching for my sister's body. We are heart-broken. She must have been out of her mind at the time. What caused her to take the fatal leap? Ah, I can't say. She was a good woman. Mrs. Giotti was a good husband and a good mother. When seen to-day by an Evening World reporter he said: "I have just returned from spending a week around the reservoir searching for my sister's body. We are heart-broken. She must have been out of her mind at the time. What caused her to take the fatal leap? Ah, I can't say. She was a good woman. Mrs. Giotti was a good husband and a good mother. When seen to-day by an Evening World reporter he said: "I have just returned from spending a week around the reservoir searching for my sister's body. We are heart-broken. She must have been out of her mind at the time. What caused her to take the fatal leap? Ah, I can't say. She was a good woman. Mrs. Giotti was a good husband and a good mother. When seen to-day by an Evening World reporter he said: "I have just returned from spending a week around the reservoir searching for my sister's body. We are heart-broken. She must have been out of her mind at the time. What caused her to take the fatal leap? Ah, I can't say. She was a good woman. Mrs. Giotti was a good husband and a good mother. When seen to-day by an Evening World reporter he said: "I have just returned from spending a week around the reservoir searching for my sister's body. We are heart-broken. She must have been out of her mind at the time. What caused her to take the fatal leap? Ah, I can't say. She was a good woman. Mrs. Giotti was a good husband and a good mother. When seen to-day by an Evening World reporter he said: "I have just returned from spending a week around the reservoir searching for my sister's body. We are heart-broken. She must have been out of her mind at the time. What caused her to take the fatal leap? Ah, I can't say. She was a good woman. Mrs. Giotti was a good husband and a good mother. When seen to-day by an Evening World reporter he said: "I have just returned from spending a week around the reservoir searching for my sister's body. We are heart-broken. She must have been out of her mind at the time. What caused her to take the fatal leap? Ah, I can't say. She was a good woman. Mrs. Giotti was a good husband and a good mother. When seen to-day by an Evening World reporter he said: "I have just returned from spending a week around the reservoir searching for my sister's body. We are heart-broken. She must have been out of her mind at the time. What caused her to take the fatal leap? Ah, I can't say. She was a good woman. Mrs. Giotti was a good husband and a good mother. When seen to-day by an Evening World reporter he said: "I have just returned from spending a week around the reservoir searching for my sister's body. We are heart-broken. She must have been out of her mind at the time. What caused her to take the fatal leap? Ah, I can't say. She was a good woman. Mrs. Giotti was a good husband and a good mother. When seen to-day by an Evening World reporter he said: "I have just returned from spending a week around the reservoir searching for my sister's body. We are heart-broken. She must have been out of her mind at the time. What caused her to take the fatal leap? Ah, I can't say. She was a good woman. Mrs. Giotti was a good husband and a good mother. When seen to-day by an Evening World reporter he said: "I have just returned from spending a week around the reservoir searching for my sister's body. We are heart-broken. She must have been out of her mind at the time. What caused her to take the fatal leap? Ah, I can't say. She was a good woman. Mrs. Giotti was a good husband and a good mother. When seen to-day by an Evening World reporter he said: "I have just returned from spending a week around the reservoir searching for my sister's body. We are heart-broken. She must have been out of her mind at the time. What caused her to take the fatal leap? Ah, I can't say. She was a good woman. Mrs. Giotti was a good husband and a good mother. When seen to-day by an Evening World reporter he said: "I have just returned from spending a week around the reservoir searching for my sister's body. We are heart-broken. She must have been out of her mind at the time. What caused her to take the fatal leap? Ah, I can't say. She was a good woman. Mrs. Giotti was a good husband and a good mother. When seen to-day by an Evening World reporter he said: "I have just returned from spending a week around the reservoir searching for my sister's body. We are heart-broken. She must have been out of her mind at the time. What caused her to take the fatal leap? Ah, I can't say. She was a good woman. Mrs. Giotti was a good husband and a good mother. When seen to-day by an Evening World reporter he said: "I have just returned from spending a week around the reservoir searching for my sister's body. We are heart-broken. She must have been out of her mind at the time. What caused her to take the fatal leap? Ah, I can't say. She was a good woman. Mrs. Giotti was a good husband and a good mother. When seen to-day by an Evening World reporter he said: "I have just returned from spending a week around the reservoir searching for my sister's body. We are heart-broken. She must have been out of her mind at the time. What caused her to take the fatal leap? Ah, I can't say. She was a good woman. Mrs. Giotti was a good husband and a good mother. When seen to-day by an Evening World reporter he said: "I have just returned from spending a week around the reservoir searching for my sister's body. We are heart-broken. She must have been out of her mind at the time. What caused her to take the fatal leap? Ah, I can't say. She was a good woman. Mrs. Giotti was a good husband and a good mother. When seen to-day by an Evening World reporter he said: "I have just returned from spending a week around the reservoir searching for my sister's body. We are heart-broken. She must have been out of her mind at the time. What caused her to take the fatal leap? Ah, I can't say. She was a good woman. Mrs. Giotti was a good husband and a good mother. When seen to-day by an Evening World reporter he said: "I have just returned from spending a week around the reservoir searching for my sister's body. We are heart-broken. She must have been out of her mind at the time. What caused her to take the fatal leap? Ah, I can't say. She was a good woman. Mrs. Giotti was a good husband and a good mother. When seen to-day by an Evening World reporter he said: "I have just returned from spending a week around the reservoir searching for my sister's body. We are heart-broken. She must have been out of her mind at the time. What caused her to take the fatal leap? Ah, I can't say. She was a good woman. Mrs. Giotti was a good husband and a good mother. When seen to-day by an Evening World reporter he said: "I have just returned from spending a week around the reservoir searching for my sister's body. We are heart-broken. She must have been out of her mind at the time. What caused her to take the fatal leap? Ah, I can't say. She was a good woman. Mrs. Giotti was a good husband and a good mother. When seen to-day by an Evening World reporter he said: "I have just returned from spending a week around the reservoir searching for my sister's body. We are heart-broken. She must have been out of her mind at the time. What caused her to take the fatal leap? Ah, I can't say. She was a good woman. Mrs. Giotti was a good husband and a good mother. When seen to-day by an Evening World reporter he said: "I have just returned from spending a week around the reservoir searching for my sister's body. We are heart-broken. She must have been out of her mind at the time. What caused her to take the fatal leap? Ah, I can't say. She was a good woman. Mrs. Giotti was a good husband and a good mother. When seen to-day by an Evening World reporter he said: "I have just returned from spending a week around the reservoir searching for my sister's body. We are heart-broken. She must have been out of her mind at the time. What caused her to take the fatal leap? Ah, I can't say. She was a good woman. Mrs. Giotti was a good husband and a good mother. When seen to-day by an Evening World reporter he said: "I have just returned from spending a week around the reservoir searching for my sister's body. We are heart-broken. She must have been out of her mind at the time. What caused her to take the fatal leap? Ah, I can't say. She was a good woman. Mrs. Giotti was a good husband and a good mother. When seen to-day by an Evening World reporter he said: "I have just returned from spending a week around the reservoir searching for my sister's body. We are heart-broken. She must have been out of her mind at the time. What caused her to take the fatal leap? Ah, I can't say. She was a good woman. Mrs. Giotti was a good husband and a good mother. When seen to-day by an Evening World reporter he said: "I have just returned from spending a week around the reservoir searching for my sister's body. We are heart-broken. She must have been out of her mind at the time. What caused her to take the fatal leap? Ah, I can't say. She was a good woman. Mrs. Giotti was a good husband and a good mother. When seen to-day by an Evening World reporter he said: "I have just returned from spending a week around the reservoir searching for my sister's body. We are heart-broken. She must have been out of her mind at the time. What caused her to take the fatal leap? Ah, I can't say. She was a good woman. Mrs. Giotti was a good husband and a good mother. When seen to-day by an Evening World reporter he said: "I have just returned from spending a week around the reservoir searching for my sister's body. We are heart-broken. She must have been out of her mind at the time. What caused her to take the fatal leap? Ah, I can't say. She was a good woman. Mrs. Giotti was a good husband and a good mother. When seen to-day by an Evening World reporter he said: "I have just returned from spending a week around the reservoir searching for my sister's body. We are heart-broken. She must have been out of her mind at the time. What caused her to take the fatal leap? Ah, I can't say. She was a good woman. Mrs. Giotti was a good husband and a good mother. When seen to-day by an Evening World reporter he said: "I have just returned from spending a week around the reservoir searching for my sister's body. We are heart-broken. She must have been out of her mind at the time. What caused her to take the fatal leap? Ah, I can't say. She was a good woman. Mrs. Giotti was a good husband and a good mother. When seen to-day by an Evening World reporter he said: "I have just returned from spending a week around the reservoir searching for my sister's body. We are heart-broken. She must have been out of her mind at the time. What caused her to take the fatal leap? Ah, I can't say. She was a good woman. Mrs. Giotti was a good husband and a good mother. When seen to-day by an Evening World reporter he said: "I have just returned from spending a week around the reservoir searching for my sister's body. We are heart-broken. She must have been out of her mind at the time. What caused her to take the fatal leap? Ah, I can't say. She was a good woman. Mrs. Giotti was a good husband and a good mother. When seen to-day by an Evening World reporter he said: "I have just returned from spending a week around the reservoir searching for my sister's body. We are heart-broken. She must have been out of her mind at the time. What caused her to take the fatal leap? Ah, I can't say. She was a good woman. Mrs. Giotti was a good husband and a good mother. When seen to-day by an Evening World reporter he said: "I have just returned from spending a week around the reservoir searching for my sister's body. We are heart-broken. She must have been out of her mind at the time. What caused her to take the fatal leap? Ah, I can't say. She was a good woman. Mrs. Giotti was a good husband and a good mother. When seen to-day by an Evening World reporter he said: "I have just returned from spending a week around the reservoir searching for my sister's body. We are heart-broken. She must have been out of her mind at the time. What caused her to take the fatal leap? Ah, I can't say. She was a good woman. Mrs. Giotti was a good husband and a good mother. When seen to-day by an Evening World reporter he said: "I have just returned from spending a week around the reservoir searching for my sister's body. We are heart-broken. She must have been out of her mind at the time. What caused her to take the fatal leap? Ah, I can't say. She was a good woman. Mrs. Giotti was a good husband and a good mother. When seen to-day by an Evening World reporter he said: "I have just returned from spending a week around the reservoir searching for my sister's body. We are heart-broken. She must have been out of her mind at the time. What caused her to take the fatal leap? Ah, I can't say. She was a good woman. Mrs. Giotti was a good husband and a good mother. When seen to-day by an Evening World reporter he said: "I have just returned from spending a week around the reservoir searching for my sister's body. We are heart-broken. She must have been out of her mind at the time. What caused her to take the fatal leap? Ah, I can't say. She was a good woman. Mrs. Giotti was a good husband and a good mother. When seen to-day by an Evening World reporter he said: "I have just returned from spending a week around the reservoir searching for my sister's body. We are heart-broken. She must have been out of her mind at the time. What caused her to take the fatal leap? Ah,